

Pro-Resolving Mediators

Supports a balanced inflammatory response to maintain homeostasis throughout the body

Omega Fatty Acids

intro

Pro-Resolving mediators (PRMs) are the end products of the body's metabolism of EPA and DHA. Thorne's Pro-Resolving Mediators supplement includes the precursors the body needs to create pro-resolving mediators – two pre-resolving mediators 17-HDHA and 14-HDHA from DHA and one pre-resolving mediator 18-HEPE from EPA, as well as their parents EPA and DHA, to deliver a one-two punch in support of a balanced inflammatory response.* A balanced inflammatory response helps bring the body back into homeostasis after an injury or other insult – essentially helping to "resolve" the problem.* In fact, groups of PRMs produced in the body are called resolvins and protectins – basically members of the body's "cleanup crew."

What it does

- / Provides support for healthy brain structure and cognitive function
- / Helps maintain a balanced immune/inflammatory response throughout the body
- / Provides relief from the discomfort of a tissue injury
- / Promotes clearance of cellular debris – the dead cells and byproducts of the inflammatory process
- / Supports exercise recovery

Features

- / Includes EPA and DHA in addition to three pre-resolving mediators
- / Contains an omega-3 blend with the highest concentration of pre-resolving mediators on the market
